BELLEVUE RUNNER AGAIN WINNER AT LETHBRIDGE

Charlie Conner, Bellevue athlete, easily won the three-mile marathon at Lethbridge on Thanksgiving Day, his time being 16 minutes, 32 2/3 seconds. His previous record was 16 minutes, 41 seconds.

Speaking of the race, the Lethbridge Herald states:

"Modest Charlie Conner, of Bellevue, was the hero of the hour on Thanksgiving day, finishing strongly well in the van of the remaining entrants in the Herald-L.Y.P.C.A. road race to cop the large silver trophy for the second time and win his second individual cup as a permanent possession. In winning the race for the second time, Conner broke his own record set last year. The Pass runner delighted the crowd by promising to return next Thanksgiving day and bend every possible effort towards nabbing the trophy a third time and hence win it for his own.

In the junior run, Harold C. Murray came from behind in the final spurt to pass Jack Cowin, of Cowley, and breast the tape first. This contest was a much closer one than the senior run and cries of delight from the crowd resounded the enjoyment of racing fans."

PERSONAL GREETING CARDS

The Enterprise has received samples of Personal Greeting Cards and now has these on display at the office, where inquiries regarding same are invited. The lines in the sample books cover cards for every phase of life—Personal, Business or Professional—and will be sure to please you, no matter what you desire in the way of personal greeting cards for Christmas. A comparatively small number of people in the town have a chance to purchase anything through their printer, so this is your chance, which will prove of mutual benefit to both. The prices are lower this year, and the cards may be obtained in any quantities at no more than you would pay for plain cards. Why be bothered with door-to-door peddlers. These are not taxpayers, or even, in many cases residents of Blairmore. Buy printing from the printer and be assured of satisfaction. We will gladly send a sample book for your perusal; phone 11.

SPECIAL—A very special offering is being made by us, the equal of which cannot be found on the continent. With every order of 25 or more cards, we will present you with a beautiful cabinet of fine quality Note Paper and Envelopes, with your initial neatly engraved thereon. This offer is limited to October 31st, and we would suggest you place your order now.

LOCAL ATHLETES SUSPENDED

The Blairmore correspondent to the Lethbridge Herald writes:

"Suspended from all amateur activities in sport until December 31st, 1931, is the sentence meted out to 'Tony' Vejprava, of Blairmore, and 'Bill' Gates, of Coleman, for participating in a baseball game which was not properly sanctioned by the amateur authorities.

"For some time past there has been a general misunderstanding regarding the new amateur rule which permits regular amateur teams to play against professional teams in baseball, providing sanction for the game has been obtained from the Amateur Association.

"Many players have transgressed the code of the Amateur Union through ignorance of this new rule, believing that they could play with or against professionals, whereas the rule only permits an amateur team to play exhibition baseball against a professional team after obtaining the permission or sanction of the Provincial Branch of the Amateur Union.

"The suspension handed out to these two well-known hockey and baseball players will act as a warning to other amateurs in the province; while it is not a very severe sentence the action of the amateur officials has caused quite a stir in sport circles and will no doubt be the means of making other athletes 'watch their step' when considering actions of the nature of that committed by Gates and Vejprava.

"The Crows' Nest Hockey League schedule usually opens around Dec. 15, and the two suspended players will have the pleasure of watching their teammates from the box instead of being actual participants until New Year's Day."

"ALOHA," AT COLE'S THEATRE, BELLEVUE

Ben Lyon and Raquel Torres head a marvelous cast at Cole's theatre, Bellevue, opening Monday, in "Aloha," a Tiffany special production directed by Albert Koguen from an original story by Thomas H. Ince and J. G. Hawks.

Ben Lyon plays a young San Francisco business man who is in the tropics to learn his father's copra business from the ground up. In spite of his better judgment, he falls in love with Ilana, a beautiful half-caste playboy's Miss Torres. Ilana has refused to choose a mate from among the native swains and is, thereby, an outcast from her tribe.

When Lyon marries Ilana and takes her home to his stormy old father and his smouldering sister and his disappointed sweetheart and their ritzy friends, the story swings from drama to comedy to thrills and emotional tempests.

The wife—a child of nature, spontaneous, natural, affectionate and joy loving—is to the aristocratic old family a scandal, a sin, a thorn in their flesh, and not to be endured. She upsets a staid, dignified world and keeps the plot sizzling.

The cast includes, besides Ben Lyon and Raquel Torres, Robert Edison, Alan Hale, Thelma Todd, Marian Douglas, T. Roy Barnes, Robert Ellis, Otis Harlan, Donald Reed, Dickie Moore, Marcia Harris, Rita Rey, Adie McPhail and Al St. John. Adele Buffington wrote the adaptation and continuity and Leslie Mason and W. Totman the dialogue. It is Western Electric recording.

THANKSGIVING IN CANADA

on November 6th following.

To Newfoundland, the oldest colony of the British Empire, belongs the honor of having the first Thanksgiving celebration on this continent. This was in 1578, and it was conducted by a clergyman who accompanied the expedition which, under Sir Martin Frobisher, brought the first British immigrants to the New World. It must have been a stirring and a picturesque ceremony and they had much to be thankful for after their voyage. In those days the voyage was a really hazardous adventure. To the peril of the sea in the little caravels that were the ancestors of the modern ocean greyhounds were added the possible attention of buccanniers of the sea, who knew neither flag nor race when they saw a chance to plunder as well as the navy of the nation with which the nationals of the adventures or rather their kings and princes happened at the time to be at war.

Canada was somewhat slow to take up the idea. It is true that the churches observed the harvest festival but Thanksgiving does not seem to have been a national day until October 9, 1879, when it was ordained that a day of general Thanksgiving should be held, and this was duly observed

There had been days of observance of Thanksgiving for special events before this. Upper Canada proclaimed a Day of Thanksgiving in June, 1816, to mark the close of the Napoleonic wars; while a Day of Thanksgiving for the whole of Canada was proclaimed on March 1, 1872, for the restoration to health of the then Prince of Wales, who was afterwards King Edward VII.

The phraseology of the succeeding Thanksgiving proclamation has varied little since the first one was written. In the early days of the present century, Canadian Thanksgiving Day was made to correspond with that of the United States and there were some advantages in this arrangement, but it was felt that the date chosen by the republics—the last Thursday in November, was late to serve the original purpose of the Canadian celebration, a thanksgiving for the harvest, and a Thursday in October was chosen for a year or two. Afterwards to suit the convenience of travellers and others whose business took them away from home, a Monday was chosen. This was changed again to the Monday in November nearest the 11th, and this year has once more been set back into October.—Edison-Jasper Signal.

A Time For Self Control

As Shakespeare once put it, "the times are out of joint." These are troublous days, and days of trouble. Men's nerves are on edge, and little things that would be passed over lightly in good times are every day becoming the cause of quarrels. Because nerves are on edge, tempers are not under control even to the extent they usually are, and in the case of most people tempers are never controlled as they should be.

Today people will argue and dispute about almost anything, and lose their tempers over the most trivial matters which are of no importance whatever. The great Bard of Avon wrote: "Beware of entrance to a quarrel; but, being in, bear it that the opposed may beware of thee." Abraham Lincoln, however, said that while this advice was good, it was not the best, and he substituted: "Quarrel not at all. No man, resolved to make the most of himself, can spare time for personal contention. Still less can he afford to take the consequences, including the vitiation of his temper and the loss of self-control. Yield larger things to which you show no more than equal right; and yield lesser ones through clearly your own. Better give your path to a dog than be bitten by him in contesting for the right. Even killing the dog would not cure the bite."

This is not to say that a man should sacrifice so much as one important conviction, or yield his principles for the sake of peace or profit. There are times when a man should get mad, when we could feel nothing but contempt for him if he did not. But such occasions are few and far between. The trivial, inconsequent thing should never be the cause of dispute or outbreak of temper.

We are reminded of the three-word Latin motto above the doorway of the ancient chamber in the Guildhall in which the aldermen of London hold their court and which no one of them can fail to see: "Audi alteram partem." Hear the other side.

And in old England, with its long years of experience in handling human beings of all classes and degrees in all parts of the world, how much wiser than other nations is she in dealing with agitators. The Old Land long ago learned that talk, like any other gas, is dangerous only when compressed. Younger countries, Canada included, has yet to learn that lesson. So we find in London, instead of attempting to suppress the Hyde Park orators, the British authorities supply police protection for them, let them say their say, and do not quarrel with them.

And what is the cause of most misunderstandings, leading to loss of temper and open quarrels? Is it not that in our self-opinionated state we are wasting our energies and increasing our blood pressure trying, over trivial things, to set somebody else right? Instead of accepting people as what they are, we are forever trying to mold their lives to our preconceived model, endeavouring to organize them. How many married couples live in a state of tension because one or both seek to make the other over. If once the idea could get abroad that the real appeal of the sexes is the fact that they are not alike, with a great gain that would be. And what applies to the sexes applies equally to races, creeds, and other established facts of life.

Let us stop trying to organize the lives of other people, and attend strictly to the task of organizing our own. Let us master the lesson that, after all, there are comparatively few issues in this world worth disputing over. It would, of course, be a sad day for the world if righteous indignation vanished from it. If man became so immersed in the scramble for profit and place of power that they could no longer get mad over palpable wrongs and gross injustices. But the point is that too much of the world's anger is poured out in defence of pride or prejudice instead of conviction.

As one old Roman philosopher said: "Many have suffered for talking; none ever suffered for keeping silent." And, on another occasion, "We cannot be wrong in leaving other people's business alone."

Using Seed Cleaning Units

Saskatchewan Municipalities Taking Advantage Of Outlets Supplied

Several municipalities in Saskatchewan already have made application to the Field Crop Branch of the Department of Agriculture for seed cleaning units as supplied by the Saskatchewan Government in co-operation with the Dominion Seed Branch. Under this scheme, the Governments furnish the machinery, the municipality being required to provide the motive power and the housing accommodation. All the outlets supplied to date have been of an itinerant nature, and may be transported from farm to farm during the seed cleaning period.

Increased Attendance Is Shown For Former Students

Former students returning to Saskatchewan University brought up the enrolment in the regular classes to 1,043 or 47 less than last year, announces President W. C. Murray. To offset this the number enrolled in the correspondence courses has increased by 57 to 303, giving a net increase of ten students.

The decline is mainly in the college of arts and sciences. The College of Pharmacy shows reduced enrolment, and engineering a considerable increase. The other colleges have about the same numbers as on the corresponding day last year.

Sheep Buried In Snow

Found Alive Eight Weeks After South African Storm

Hundreds of South Africans saw a fall of snow for the first time in their lives during a recent heavy storm on Table Mountain and other Cape ranges. While the present season is "winter" on this side of the equator, snow has rarely been seen this far south.

From the interior comes a story of how 18 sheep lived for eight weeks under an avalanche of snow in the Molten district.

Although completely hemmed in, they managed to keep alive by breathing through the melting snow and eating the grass on the floor of the aperture, as well as snow. When found they were little more than skeletons. They are now recovering.

FASHION HINT

"How to make my old short skirts conform to the new length was a problem to me until I hit on this plan. I dropped the hem of my skirt but that had been turned under was darker than the rest, I redyed the entire dress, after having bleached the goods, following directions in the Diamond Dyes package. "I used Diamond Dyes for the redyeing, of course. I have dyed many things with these wonderful colors. They have saved me many dollars and have never failed to give perfect results—smooth, even colors. I used Diamond Dyes for the redyeing of my things as new when I redye or tint them with Diamond Dyes. They do give the most gorgeous colors!"

Thirty-Five Years Enough

Missionary To Yukon Hands Over Work To Younger Men

Duties as a missionary in the frozen Yukon for 35 years have ended for Rev. W. D. Young.

Mr. Young only spent a few minutes in Calgary, but it was long enough for him to say that he had left the Yukon for ever. Now 73 years old, he handed to younger men the work of spreading the gospel in the distant north.

It was two years before the great Klondike gold rush of 1898 that Mr. Young went north, then 38 years old. Just what he will do now, he does not know, but it is likely he will go to Toronto after his stay in Winnipeg. He made two trips to civilization during the northern stay, which included 25 years at Herschel Island. The first was in 1902 and the second in 1930.

His home, before he went north as a missionary, was in Bruce County, Ontario, where he farmed.

If Miller's Worm Powders needed the support of testimonials they could be got from mothers who know the virtue of this excellent medicine. But the powders will speak for themselves and in such a way that there can be no question of them. Kind Words Cost Nothing

There sometimes are excuses to be made for the men and women who are stingy with money, but not for those who are stingy with appreciation. Kind words cost nothing at all; yet some of you are as reluctant to make use of them as any old miser is to part with one of his cherished gold pieces.

Canada Has Thousands Of Level Crossings

Removal Of All Impossible Says Hon. Frank Oliver

The Dominion at present has some 28,000 level crossings scattered along railways from coast to coast despite expenditure of $15,189,000 over the past 21 years towards elimination and amelioration of this menace to traffic, according to Hon. Frank Oliver, advisory officer to the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada, in a paper before the recent convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association at Lucerne-in-Quebec.

In 1930, a total of 341 railway crossing accidents in Canada took a total of 115 lives and 475 injured. Mr. Oliver stated. Through the efforts of the Board of Railway Commissioners had been done to improve railway crossing conditions Mr. Oliver continued.

Crossing accidents on provincial highways formed less than one-third of the total for 1930; the great majority of crossing fatalities occurring in country roads.

The annual government grant of $200,000 to the Board for the railway crossing fund was inadequate, the speaker said, and it would be impossible to entirely remove all level crossings in the Dominion.

J. P. Bickell, registrar of motor vehicles of Ontario, said the death rate exceeded three persons a day on Canada's roads. The total of automobile fatalities in the year 1930 was 289 and the injured were approximately 40,000.

Project To Establish International Currency

Plan Is Suggested To Fight World-Wide Unsoundness

A project to establish an international currency to fight world-wide unsoundness has been disclosed in the Swiss press.

The creation of such a currency would be based on a deposit of $1,000,000,000 in the world bank by the central banks of the various countries. France would deposit one-third of the amount and the United States the balance, under the plan. Certificates would be issued by the world bank and distributed among the depositors, covered either by 30 per cent or 50 per cent of their gold deposit. They would also draw coverage from money circulating in the various countries.

World bank quarters were confident the plan would assume concrete form in the near future. This was based on a belief that France and United States would call an international currency conference after Premier Laval's visit to Washington.

Lower Prices For Honey

Honey Prices In Ontario Lowest In 25 Years

Honey values in Ontario have reached the lowest point in 25 years, according to officials of the Ontario Honey Producers' Association, and while that is true, the flavour of this year's product is rated much better than the average year. Last year's crop in round figures in Ontario was about 18,000,000 pounds and this year there is a 60 per cent. crop, or about 7,500,000 pounds.

There has been a good demand from countries like Holland for buckwheat honey at four to six cents a pound and producers hope for better prices than those now prevailing, under which they get only about 5 to 6 cents a pound. Last year's prices were easily 2 cents a pound, on the average, above this year's price.

Trade and Commerce

Oregon has a buy-at-home campaign and so has the state of Washington. Each is cancelling contracts which have been made across the border. Keep it up. Buy only in your own state, buy only in your own home town, buy only on your own side of the street, buy only from a member of your own family and thus get rich. The whole idea of trade and commerce must, it seems, be old-fashioned and foolish.—Toronto Star.

No Longer a Bagbear

Britain's Departure From Gold Standard Not Likely To Harm Anybody

The United States owns nearly half the gold supply of the world. At the beginning of the present month, United States-owned gold amounted to $4,983,000,000, a new high record. Yet in the Republic at this very moment, some millions of men, women and children are fearfully wondering how they are going to keep warm and feed this coming winter.

Perhaps the position of the United States has little real relation to the gold standard in Britain, or its departure from it. Yet existing world realities have knocked so many ancient and cherished theories into a cocked hat it will be surprising if what has been done in Britain visits much harm upon anybody. Currency changes, most certainly, long ago ceased to be a bagbear.—Ottawa Journal.

Cutworm Damage

Survey Will Be Made In Several Areas Near Saskatoon

A survey of cutworm damage will be undertaken immediately by the Entomological Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

The object of this study is to secure accurate information with respect to the amount of damage done by cutworms. For this purpose several areas in the vicinity of Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, have been chosen.

It is also expected that as a result of this survey information which will show the relationship of farm practices and farm management to cutworm damage will be obtained and better methods of control may be developed.

City Covers Big Acreage

Regina is one of the largest cities in Canada. It covers 8,408 acres, more than twice as big as many eastern cities of similar or even larger population. Within the confines of Regina are more than 500 acres of civic parks, nearly 100 acres of exhibition grounds, besides a great deal of vacant property. Regina could comfortably accommodate twice its present population without extending the boundaries.

Canada 'Keeps Gold Standard'

Premier Bennett Says No Change Is Contemplated

Canada retains the gold standard, and it is not proposed to abandon it. This, in effect, is the statement of Premier R. B. Bennett. Persistent rumours that the Dominion proposed to abandon the gold standard was drawn to the attention of the Prime Minister. His answer was emphatic. The Government had not changed the position taken when news of Great Britain's departure from the gold standard was flashed across the ocean.

"Canada has not altered the position taken when the announcement was made that England had departed from the gold standard, nor do we contemplate so doing," the Prime Minister declared. "We have appealed and not in vain, to Canadians to conserve our gold supply to meet whatever strain may be placed upon our resources by reason of our foreign commitments, which are payable in gold and will be honoured accordingly."

Carry it in your purse and insure your comfort while shopping, your evening's pleasure at the theatre. Those little nagging aches that bring a case of "nerves" by day are ended in a jiffy. Pains that once kept people home are forgotten half an hour after you've taken Aspirin. You'll find these tablets always help. In every package of Aspirin tablets are proven directions which cover colds, headaches, sore throat, toothache, neuralgia, neuritis, sciatica, and even rheumatism.

The tablets stamped Bayer won't fail you, and can't harm you. They don't depress the heart. They don't upset the stomach. So take them whenever you need them, and take enough to end the pain. Aspirin is made in Canada.

SAYS CANADA'S BANKING SYSTEM ON SOUND BASIS

Montreal, Que.—Canada is well able to lean on her own resources and is doing so. Her production of gold will amount to $50,000,000 this year, her banking system is sound and business is being done," declared Beaudry Leman, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, addressing a meeting of the Catholic Women's league, city sub-division. Mr. Leman was asked by Premier L. A. Taschereau to substitute for him as speaker.

Sympathy with those involved in recent occurrences in the stock exchange was expressed by Mr. Leman. He asked that no unfavourable criticism be directed against those who had sacrificed years of work and the results therefrom, as well as their own personal means, in order to protect their clients.

The causes which had produced at the moment such unfavourable results in the financial field were not only beneficial to Canada in the economic field by stimulating production of Canadian goods and employment of Canadian labour, the banker said. The lowering of the value of the Canadian dollar places, indirectly, an obstacle against imports of goods which made it easier for the Canadian producer to develop his own production and give more employment to Canadians, thereby creating a sounder economic situation as far as Canada was concerned, he went on.

Referring to the country's banks, Mr. Leman suggested to his hearers they read the annual statements of the various banks covering the years 1928 and 1930. "You will find that every single bank in this country advised people to be careful, that excesses would inevitably bring their reaction, that dangers were ahead."

"Do you imagine that the banks that were giving out to others these warnings did not trim their own sails, seeing that there was a storm ahead? I leave the answer to your own judgment. The bank situation in Canada is sound. We have every reason to be proud of the system established in this country, which has weathered many storms."

He mentioned the crises of 1895, 1907, 1914 and 1930.

"We have lived through these crises, they came, they passed and we are still alive!"

Canada was now the second largest gold producing country in the world, Mr. Leman said. "Production would be used in two ways: 'Firstly, it must be used to protect the financial situation in Canada, that is the financial situation, to keep it sane and sound, at the same time Canada will keep in the position of shipping gold outside the country, as and when national conditions permit. Gold shipments have not stopped, are being made and will continue to be made,' Mr. Leman said.

The banker blamed recent distress selling of stock issues on an attack of nerves. "We are cool and collected when an emergency arises, and do what should be done at the moment. But people have an attack of nerves after the accident is over. The danger is past but there is a psychological reaction at seeing just what has happened." The danger was in 1928 and 1929, when prices were high, not in 1931 when they are on the bottom, he said.

British Parliament Has Been Prorogued

King George Summarizes Government's Effort To Overcome Financial Trouble

London, Eng.—The British Parliament was prorogued October 7, with a speech from the throne while excitement prevailed over the coming general election.

The King, in his speech, briefly summarized the efforts of the government to pull the nation out of its financial and economic troubles.

Only about 100 members of the House of Commons were scattered along the benches, many already having departed for their constituencies. Jeers, jokes and outbursts of party feelings interrupted the proceedings as the members shouted across the floor of the House from the various sections.

Predicts Jobless Insurance

Calgary, Alberta.—A scheme of unemployment insurance, based upon an actuarial principle will probably be introduced during the life of the present parliament, according to Dr. G. D. Stanley, Conservative member of the House of Commons for East Calgary.

Gandhi Is Impatient

Wants Government To Give Pledge Regarding Future Line Of Action

London, Eng.—Although he appreciates that the general election and Britain's financial questions have necessarily made the Indian matter a secondary issue, Mahatma Gandhi is becoming restless. "I have been in England nearly a month, now," he said, "and I have accomplished nothing except to become acquainted with England's poor and unemployed."

"If, however, the Government will give certain pledges respecting its future line of action in handling the Indian issue I am willing to remain here until after the election. I am not one to strike his opponent while he is down. England must be given a chance to regain its feet, but at the same time the Indian question must not go unsolved indefinitely."

"When I return to India, which I hope will be before the snow lies in England, I must have something tangible to offer my people in the way of independence. Otherwise we must renew the fight against our masters, which God forbid, because if the struggle is revived I fear Indians not only will be fighting Englishmen, but the Indian community will be pitted against another in racial strife."

Premier Ramsay MacDonald said the general election would not interfere with the Indian Round-Table Conference and that the Government will pursue its position to settle the Indian problem before the year is over.

Mob Causes Trouble

Mounted Police Battle With Crowd In Heart Of London

London, England.—A crowd of the unemployed using sticks, stones and fire crackers, battled with mounted police in front of the British Museum in the heart of London. Unable to resist the relentless charging of the horses at a gallop and clubbing by police batons, the crowd, screaming, finally marched to Hyde Park, where it was served a free meal and went home.

The disorder began when the constabulary appeared and ordered the crowd, which had been marching down Drury Lane, gathering new recruits constantly and singing "The Red Flag," to disperse.

Some of the crowd, which immediately became infuriated, tossed fire crackers into the police ranks, stampeding the horses. Others gathered bricks and pieces of mortar and threw them at the police, who drew back and charged, arresting the ring-leaders.

General Election In England

Vote Will Be Taken On October Twenty-Seventh

London, Eng.—Great Britain will vote October 27 in a general election on issues of outstanding importance, it was announced at Buckingham Palace. It will be the first general election since May 30, 1929, when Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin's Conservative Government was swept out of power and the Labour party returned to the helm for the first time in five years. The Liberal representation in Parliament was radically reduced but it has held the balance of power throughout the period.

The announcement came after Premier MacDonald had conferred with the King.

The new parliament will be called into session early in November, it was said, and will sit for at least six weeks up to the Christmas recess. The election campaign is expected to be at its peak at once with all three parties girding for an epochal struggle.

Citizenship Qualities

Toronto, Ont.—"The human quality of the mass of the people of Great Britain is far too low for successful coping with the duties of modern citizenship," Dr. L. P. Jack, editor of Hibbert's Journal, recently resigned principal of Manchester College, Oxford, England, and known as England's leading philosopher on the subject of recreation, said in a newspaper interview here.

British Apprentices To Visit Canada

Ottawa, Ont.—Eastern Canada is to be visited this month by a party of British grocery apprentices travelling under scholarships presented by the Department of Trade and Commerce. They will visit the important centres of eastern Canada and study the food producing industries when they are at their peak of production.

Promoted Rear Admiral

London, Eng.—Captain the Hon. Alexander Ramsay, husband of Princess Patricia, has been promoted rear-admiral. He married Princess Patricia, daughter of the Duke of Cornwall, in 1919. He was formerly Governor-General of Canada in 1919.

Market For Wheat

Plan Shipments Of Grain From Vancouver To Scandinavia

Calgary, Alberta.—Direct contact between Canadian wheat producers and Scandinavian importers is planned by F. H. Palmer, Canadian Trade Commissioner to Scandinavia. On a trip to Canada, Mr. Palmer is spending a few days in Calgary. He stated that as a result of negotiations with exporters of wheat in Calgary he anticipated easier shipments of wheat to Scandinavia via Vancouver. His aim is to abolish intermediaries between the Canadian exporters and Scandinavian importer, with a view to increasing business between the two countries.

HAS NO DOUBT ABOUT RESULT OF ELECTIONS

London, Eng.—"I was never more confident of anything in my life than of the final result this election will produce," declared Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary of State for the Dominions, when seen by the Canadian Press.

"At the same time," Mr. Thomas continued, "I am somewhat afraid of the impression which may be held in certain foreign places, and perhaps to some extent in certain far parts of the Empire, as to the exact position prevailing here. That is one reason I favoured an early election."

"I am convinced the overwhelming mass of opinion in this country is behind the National Government and will support it even though its policy of economy may be severe. That of itself will convince the whole world of the stability of this country."

Referring to the general position of the Empire in the present economic crisis, Mr. Thomas said he was more optimistic of the situation than ever before. "Although we are of the gold standard, we are the greatest banking country in the world," he said.

"The British Empire need have no apprehensions for the future. What has struck me more than anything is the manner in which the Dominions, without a solitary exception, have accepted the situation, knowing we here should do the right thing, and being ready to give us all the help they can."

As to the fiscal policy of the National Government, Mr. Thomas said: "I am not committed to any fetish. I do not think that the present is the time when a long program should be put forward. The first thing for this country to do is to deal with the adverse balance of trade."

Mr. Thomas remarked the adhesion of Canada and South Africa to the gold standard was entirely a matter for themselves. Unquestionably Canada must in the very nature of things be affected by the position of the United States, and he would not attempt to say now what should be done eventually.

Will Accept Peerage

Chancellor Of British Exchequer Decides To Take Title

London, Eng.—The Canadian Press learns that Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, has decided to accept a peerage.

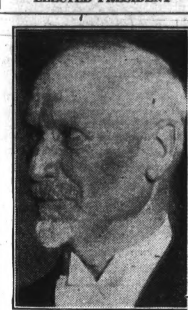

Mr. Snowden has announced he will not seek re-election in the coming general election. Elevation to the peerage, however, would enable him to render continued valuable help to the National Government, from the Upper House, if it is successful at the polls.

Resignation Of Curtius

Withdrawal Does Not Mean Any Change In Foreign Policy Of Germany

Berlin, Germany.—Dr. Julius Curtius, who succeeded the late Dr. Gustav Stresemann as foreign minister of Germany in October, 1929, and kept in force the Stresemann policy of conciliation with Germany's wartime enemies, has submitted his resignation to Chancellor Heinrich Brüning.

His withdrawal came after bitter criticism, especially by National Socialists and Nationalists, who objected because he approved Germany's abandonment of the proposed Austro-German customs pact. The foreign minister also was attacked on his policy of friendship with France.

Government spokesmen emphatically asserted, however, that his resignation did not mean any change in Germany's foreign policy.

Protest From U.F.C.

Against Closing Of Saskatchewan Traffic And Freight Rates Branch

Saskatoon, Sask.—A strong protest against the closing of the traffic and freight rates branch of the provincial department of railways, which is headed as a "great shock," was issued by United Farmers of Canada headquarters, tribute being paid to the value of services rendered by George H. Smith, head of the branch, now dismissed.

Disputing any motive of economy, the statement claims that it is a known fact that the government department indicates that the department has saved the province $500,000. The spokesman of the U.F.C. also indicates that with the opening of the Hudson Bay railway the functioning of the department is still more essential to the farmers of Saskatchewan.

Will Not Visit Here

Ottawa, Ont.—Premier Laval of France will be unable to visit Canada during his coming trip to North America. An invitation to look to Ottawa was sent to the French Premier by Premier R. B. Bennett. A reply was received Wednesday, October 7, expressing the regrets of Premier Laval that he would be unable to accept the invitation.

No Need Of Transients

Minister Of Labour Refers To Wanderings Of Unemployed Men

Ottawa, Ont.—No necessity exists for the continual wanderings of transient unemployed men, Hon. G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labour, said here. He also announced men going to work on the trans-Canada Highway would have to provide themselves with suitable clothing or obtain it from other than governmental sources.

"There is no necessity for the continual rambling up and down of these men on the railways," said the Minister. "There is justification for it when the provinces are sending men to work on the roads. The transients are giving Canada the appearance of a country crowded with unemployed, when it is not. I am quite satisfied that there is no necessity for the liberty and license in transient travelling now rampant."

During his recent western trip, Senator Robertson said he had seen no signs of unemployment at divisional points in British Columbia. The transients there seemed to have disappeared.

MUST FORSAKE PARTY STRIFE, SAYS BRACKEN

Winnipeg, Man.—With Premier John Bracken renewing his plea for a non-party government in Manitoba and the success of both the Liberal and Conservative parties holding meetings to discuss the proposal, its prospects of being accepted are the subject of keen speculation. At first the Conservatives appeared definitely opposed in Earl F. G. Taylor, Conservative leader, came to Winnipeg from Fortage la Prairie to discuss the matter at a meeting of leading party workers.

The Liberals were favourable from the start and they too are holding counsel over the scheme. While not opposed in principle John Queen, Labour leader, objects to any economy programme under a union government which will mean the curtailment of certain social services.

In a speech at Killarney, Wednesday, October 7, the Premier made his first public pronouncement on the question. He said the proposal was not advanced with the idea of postponing the impending provincial elections. He hoped the other party leaders had not yet reached final decisions in opposition but if so the present government would carry on.

Increasing expenditures on unemployment relief and declining revenues confronted the province with a serious financial situation he said. No good purpose could be served by party strife and bickering for political advantage at such a time.

So far the Government had been able to avoid a deficit and the fact that only recently it had sold a $5,000,000 bond issue showed the province was still in a sound position. It was necessary, however, to look to the future, and retrench.

Both individuals and governments needed more than ever to practice the virtues of thrift and frugality.

The sharp decline in the price of farm products was affecting every sphere of activity in Manitoba, said the Premier. This year the value of the province's farm products would be only $56,000,000, while at the worst of the depression in 1921-22 it was $100,000,000. While the burden fell on the farmers it affected also those engaged in other industries and in trade.

All governments, including the federal Government, were experiencing trouble owing to declining revenues and mounting expenditures, Manitoba was not alone and was better off than some others.

Discussing unemployment the Premier said, "Unfortunately a bad psychology has been created among the people. The expectation of jobs for all willing to work has created false hopes in the minds of men already handicapped by their difficulties. To give half-time jobs to all now out of employment would, with the materials necessary, require an amount equal to a 100 per cent. increase in the provincial budget."

"This canker of our industrial system could be allowed to remain but give clearly the provision of government work for everyone is out of the question. It ought to be gotten out of people's minds. Yet it is the state's responsibility to help find jobs somewhere if our economic system is not to be acknowledged seriously defective and it is likewise the state's responsibility to see that none willing to work go hungry or without clothing and shelter."

An offer of free telephone installations in Rome, Italy, during May brought in 13,000 new subscribers.

HOOVER PLAN TO EASE CREDIT IS ENDORSED HERE

Toronto, Ont.—President Hoover's plan to form a $500,000,000 corporation for the extension of credits was termed "a sound, constructive proposal" by Sir Thomas White, vice-president of the Bank of Commerce, in an interview with the Toronto Telegram.

These men believed President Hoover's proposal "should go far to break the deadlock in credit due to fear and distrust, which has been throttling the internal and external trade and financing of the United States."

"There is more analogy between President Hoover's proposal and the recent action of the British Government in suspending the gold standard than appears on the surface," Sir Thomas continued. "It should assist materially in setting America's gold reserves free to discharge the function for which gold reserves exist."

Sir Thomas said the proposed measure is essentially the same as that taken by Canada at the outbreak of the war. "The Dominion treasury announced that it stood prepared to loan freely to the banks at a reasonable rate of interest upon approved securities of all kinds, to enable the banks to continue to loan to their customers as in normal times," he said.

As well as restoring confidence in the United States, the president's measure should, Sir Thomas said, by relieving the banking community from apprehension as to liquidity, enable them to resume their function of furnishing credit to American trade, industry and agriculture, "subject of course to the observance of sound banking principles."

The proposal should benefit Canada, he held. "Any revival of trade in the United States should lead to demand for our products. Release of credit also should tend to make borrowing conditions on New York more favourable to Canadian governments and municipalities, always provided," Sir Thomas warned, "that such governments and municipalities show that they are retrenching expenditures and taking active steps to present sound budgetary statements. To such governments and municipalities and all countries whose credit is sound, the prospect of re-funding issues payable in New York should be much more favourable by reason of the president's proposal."

Nationalization Of Credits

U.F.A. Leader Says Money Should Be Provided At Once Rather Than For Profit

Lethbridge, Alberta.—The Canadian banking system is a debt-creating system, according to Robert Gardiner, leader of the United Farmers of Alberta group in the House of Commons and president of the organization. In an address here he declared the system should be replaced by a nationalization of currency and credits than for profit as at present.

He suggested that possibly capitalism has reached its zenith and should be replaced by a new economic order. He modified this remark by declaring that if a system is needed to meet the demands of the age, all classes will have to work together to reach a solution. War and revolt with bloodshed will solve nothing, he maintained.

Urges Moratorium

Year's Delay On Farm Loan Interest Would Assist Farmers

Winnipeg.—A year's moratorium on farm loan interest would enable western Canada to make as rapid a recovery from the depression as any other section of the Dominion, and also prevent many farmers giving up their farms, according to Col. H. A. Mullins, M.P. for Manitoba.

Col. Mullins, who has just returned from a tour of his constituency, said if the mortgage and loan companies decline to take this course they are liable to find themselves with a lot of vacant farms hands.

Marquette, the member said, was not asking for relief, and is well able to take care of its own people.

To Aid Railways

Toronto, Ont.—The Toronto Telegram says: "Toronto railwaymen will make a concerted effort to boycott retail firms which do not patronize the railway freight hauling services. At an organization meeting to be held here, representatives of the railway labour union will attempt to lay the foundation for the formation of a 'Ship-by-rail Association,' whose members will be bound to deal only with firms which patronize the railways."

THE GOLD STANDARD

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen gives this definition of the gold standard:

"What is the gold standard? A country is on the gold standard which does two things: primarily, it must undertake to redeem its currency in gold on presentation; secondly, it must, by statute, provide a gold reserve which will be practical demonstration of its power to so redeem its currency."

"There are two prerequisites," explained Mr. Meighen. "When a country undertakes and expresses its obligation in a statute to redeem its own currency in gold on presentation it generally is understood to be on the gold standard. But it ought to go further and provide a definite fixed reserve of gold in its power to answer such pledge to redeem."

The Canada Gazette states that the currency in circulation in Canada on August 31, 1931, was $141,615,347. Against this the gold held by the minister of finance amounted to $74,987,452, which was $66,667,895 in excess of statutory requirements.

Premier Bennett gave out the statement that Canada will adhere to the gold standard. To the Mail and Empire, Mr. Bennett said: "This country is all right. It is on the top of the world and is going to stay there."

TO PRINT OR NOT TO PRINT

One of our exchanges has been severely criticized for not printing the names of all who appear in the police court of his town. The editor takes the position that when the offenders appear in the police court and pay their fines or accept their jail sentence, they are paying in full the demands of society. By publishing their names, the editor insists that he is taking additional toll, and is bringing shame and suffering to members of families who merit better treatment. They are already shamed, in their relationship.

The Cranbrook Courier however, takes another view, saying that its best way to keep from being called a thief in print is to refrain from stealing. The Courier continues:

"Someone is always crabbing about having their name appear in the police court docket. Generally speaking, a newspaper contracts to give its readers the news. Filling contrast to a newspaper business when the news is bad. It must be remembered that the newspaper does not make the news, and is not responsible for it. To blame the newspaper for printing bad news is no more sensible than blaming the mirror for reflecting the morning after the night before, or blaming a physician for the illness of his patient. If the Courier reports a crime committed by some member of your family, it is not by doing so take sides against him—any more than a mirror becomes a partisan when it reflects unpleasant truths. It had much rather report some great accomplishment of his or some conspicuous proof of virtue. But it cannot manufacture facts. If a man who robs a bank falls out with us for reporting the incident, he does not thereby lessen his guilt. He might rave and rant as proof of his resentment, but he would be a rogue still. The paper is not the one to blame. Hating the paper will not change the facts. The way to keep from being called a thief is to refrain from stealing."—Ex.

MAKING MISTAKES

Many old-timers can recall the gay nineties—those hectic pre-prohibition, 'befo' de wah days—when the more fastidious matters d'hotel placed a rubber mat under the company cuspidors in the lounging rooms of the hostelry. It was a subtle recognition of man's certainty to make mistakes. The same is equally true about the rubber top on the end of a pencil. Everybody is liable to error sometimes. I think it was Pope who wrote: "To err is human; to forgive, divine."—at least, we'll blame it on him any way.

The capacity for making mistakes is so thorough a human trait, that we just naturally take it for granted. When a person of wisdom and judgment makes an error, it is not likely the same error will be repeated. A careless unthinking person is apt to keep on making errors. When a mistake happens it should be at once admitted and rectified as far as possible. Accepting responsibility and endeavoring to avoid a repetition of them in the future will profit much. Mistakes should be used as stepping stones on the road to perfection.—Ex.

WILL FEED 691,200"SOUP-MINDED" PEOPLE

Has Western Canada become "soup-minded"? The arrival of six carloads of soup from Eastern Canada would indicate it has. This soup is for distribution throughout the prairies.

Cold weather dishes are replacing the salads of the summer months and this shipment will provide 691,200 hungry Westerners with a plate of steaming soup, tomato, vegetable, or "what have you?" Each carload of soup contains 600 cases on an average, and each case contains four dozen cans. The pint-sized cans each make one quart of soup and will feed four people. A hot time is promised in the soup kitchens.

POOR SLEEP DUE TO GAS IN UPPER BOWEL

Poor sleep is caused by gas pressing heart and other organs. You can't get rid of this by just doctoring the stomach because most of the gas is in the UPPER bowel.

The simple German remedy, Adlerika, reaches BOTH upper and lower bowels, washing out poisons which cause gas, nervousness, bad sleep. Get Adlerika today; by tomorrow you feel the wonderful effect. You will say the day you read this was sure a lucky day for you. Blaimore Pharmacy.

CHASING THE GLOOM

If skies are grey,
And your whole world blue,
And no one seems to care for you—
Wear a smile;
And while the rain-drops fall,
Just stiffen your back
And weather it all.

If dark days come
With no one near,
To help you thru with words of cheer—
Just whistle a tune,
Or sing a while,
And pretty soon,
The sun will smile.

If you can whistle—
In trouble, or sing
To others a little of cheer you bring—
The sky grows bright,
The blue world gray,
For you keep chasing
The gloom away.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bamforth are spending their holidays here with Mr. and Mrs. George Bamforth.

The Hillcrest high school party at the Catholic hall on Friday last went off successfully.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Blackie, of Fernie, spent the week end here with Mr. and Mrs. George Bamforth.

The Hillcrest football team defeated a "Pick of The Pass" team in a match played here on Saturday afternoon, with a score of 9-1.

At a bridge drive, held last Wednesday, the first prizes were awarded as follows: gent's to Donald Grant, ladies' to Miss Margaret Grant. After the cards, supper was served and dancing continued till midnight.

Miss M. Chardon resumed her piano classes here on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. W. H. Moser motored to Lethbridge on Saturday, the 3rd, to meet Miss Chardon.

Miss Jessie Greener was home for the Thanksgiving holiday.

The stork visited Hillcrest on Sunday night and left a son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Firestone.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Smith, of Calgary, were down spending the week end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Smith.

Miss Nora Young won the ladies' golf tournament in Blaimore on Monday.

It is reported from the department of education that the results of the Hillcrest high school were the finest in Alberta.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Harry Pratton spent the Thanksgiving holidays visiting with friends at Vulcan.

Mr. Latta and Mrs. Irwin have been called to the bedside of Thos. Sheppard, who is ill in Calgary, we regret to say.

Frank, Smith, of Calgary, spent Thanksgiving with his mother and family, Mrs. E. Cowin.

Hilly Swart, Master Gordon Swart and Jack Cowin spent the week end in Lethbridge.

C. J. Bundy, accompanied by his wife, is now on a business trip to Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Les Tustian and family, of Homer B.C., visited relatives in and around town for a few days the past week.

Jack Cowin, who ran in the Lethbridge Herald junior road race on Thanksgiving day, came second, the prize being a silver cup.

Some of the farmers here are still sowing fall wheat. Quite a lot of fall plowing is being done also. So far the weather is still holding fine for carrying on with all branches of farm work.

A whist drive and dance, sponsored by the ladies' auxiliary, was held on Friday night and netted around $10, which was added to the fund of St. Aiden's church. The card prizes were won by: Ladies' first, Mrs. Smith; consolation, Miss Nellie McWilliam; Gents' first, John Lloyd; consolation, Jack Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. Bickle, of Nohelford, have moved onto the late J. C. Dewrey ranch, which they purchased several months ago, while Mr. and Mrs. Wells, who have been occupants for the summer months, have moved onto the old Pettit Place, at the junction of the North Fork and Old Man rivers.

Mr. Jones, of North Fork, who, after an illness of several months, passed away in St. Vincent's hospital, Pincher Creek, and was buried in the Livingstone cemetery on Wednesday.

A truck owned and driven by a Doukhobor caught on fire and burned up at the top of the hill on the Perceval grade, two miles north of town, on Tuesday morning.

If the cane bottoms of chairs sag, turn-chairs upside down and lay wet cloth over caning. This will shrink caning into place again.

CORBIN HAPPENINGS

Miss Ellen Almond, who has been holidaying in Spokane, returned home on Tuesday, accompanied by Miss Crocker, of Spokane.

A successful bridge drive and dance was held in the Club hall on Tuesday night last, under the auspices of the Anglican Ladies' Guild. There were a number of splendid prizes for the evening. The lucky winners were: ladies' first, Mrs. C. Petrie; consolation, Mrs. T. Mansell. Gents' first, Max Hunter; consolation, J. Taylor. A hint went to Mrs. Sykes, and a forty-nine pound sack of flour to Master Dean Sheppard.

A new roundhouse is under construction at the wye, to replace the building demolished by a cyclone on August, the 26th.

Mrs. C. R. Shaw and daughter Joan left on Sunday last by motor for Calgary and Banff, where they plan spending a few days before returning to Corbin.

Mrs. J. Thompson spent the Thanksgiving holiday in Coleman.

Corbin is having a perfect Indian summer just now, with just a few smouldering fires to be noticed on the hillsides.

SHE HAD HIS NUMBER

The fresh young travelling salesman put on his most seductive smile as the pretty waitress glided up to his table in the hotel dining room to get his order, and remarked: "Nice day, little one."

"Yes, it is," she replied; "and so was yesterday; and my name is Ella, and I know I'm a pretty girl and have lovely blue eyes, and I've been here quite a while, and I like the place and I don't think I'm too nice a girl to be working here. My wages are satisfactory and I don't think there's a show or a dance in town tonight and if there was I wouldn't go with you. I'm from the country, and I'm a respectable girl, and my brother is the cook in this hotel, and he was a college football player and weighs three hundred pounds. Last week he pretty near ruined a twenty-five-dollar-a-week travelling salesman, who tried to make a date with me. Now, what'll you have: roast beef, roast pork, Irish stew, hamburger or fried liver?"

CARNERA DECEASED

IVELY DEFEATED

NEW YORK, N.Y., Oct. 12.—The bigger they come the better Jack Sharkey likes it and Primo Carnera, or one, won't venture to deny it.

In the same ring where he found 170-pound Mickey Walker so tough a foe to take a few weeks ago, Sharkey blasted his way to a decisive victory on points over the 261-pound Carnera in Ebets Field last night and bounced himself right back to the forefront of challengers for Max Schmeling's heavyweight crown.

While a surprising large crowd of 30,000 looked on, Sharkey went to work methodically on the big Venetian and relentlessly cut him down to size. Before the Boston Sailor's hand was raised in token of victory after 15 rounds of spectacular milling, Sharkey had floored Carnera for one nine count, closed one of the Italian's eyes and given him so savage a beating that Primo was on the verge of a knockout on a half dozen occasions.

Through the first three rounds and a part of the fourth Carnera amazed Sharkey and the crowd with his speed and skilful boxing, using a left hand like a Tommy Loughran. Carnera stabbed Sharkey off balance and had the American floundering about. At this point it looked as though the big Italian might have the last laugh after all on those critics who have dismissed him as a ring freak lacking every flint asset except size and strength.

But the whole complexion of the fight changed in a flash in the wild fourth when Sharkey, after taking a cutting in the clinches, suddenly lashed out with a left hook that dumped the huge Carnera on the canvas with a dull thud.

Gunboat Smith, the referee, started to count. At six, Primo, stunned, pulled himself to his feet with the aid of the ropes, but went down again as his head cleared sufficiently for him to obey his handlers' sign to take a count of nine.

As Primo went down on one knee again, Sharkey tore across the ring and shouted:

"He went down without being hit, he's disqualified. Count him out."

But Smith waved him aside and resumed the count. Sharkey, mad with rage, tried to climb out of the ring, but his manager, Johnny Buckley, pushed him back into the ring.

Under the rules, Smith was within his rights in resuming the count. New York State Athletic Commission regulations provide that if a fighter goes down, gets up and goes down again without being hit, the referee, with his discretion, either may disqualify the offender or resume the count. Referees here in the past usually have resumed the count if the offender seemed not badly hurt or have disqualified him if he seemed helpless.

By the time Sharkey was ready to resume fighting, Carnera was on his feet, leaning against the ropes. The battle was on again, but Carnera never was the same. All through round after round, he took a merciless being as Sharkey, using his left hand almost exclusively, hammered away at head and body. At times, left hooks to the body sent Carnera double and left hooks to the chin sent him reeling on his heels or bounced him to the ropes. In the final round Carnera was barely able to keep his feet as Sharkey nailed him time and again with lefts and even tossed in a right cross or two.

Carnera won only one round, the third, and held Sharkey even in another, the 13th. The others went to the Boston Sailor, whose excellent showing was specially surprising in view of his draw with Mickey Walker recently. Carnera weighed 261 pounds Sharkey 202½.

AS SLIM AS AT 20

Still Fit and Active at 55

"I have been taking the small dose of Kruschen Salts every morning for the last three years. I wouldn't be without them in the house. I used to suffer with constipation and piles, but am never troubled in that way now. I am 55 years, and as slim as when I was 20. I have to work very hard, as I have my family and an invalid father to attend to, and I always say it's the Kruschen that keeps me fit."—M. S.

There's nothing like hard work and activity for keeping superfluous fat away. The trouble with most folks is finding the necessary energy. That is where Kruschen comes in. After you have had your daily supply of Kruschen every morning for a couple of weeks you'll get what is known the world over as "That Kruschen Feeling."

The urge for activity will fill your entire being—you'll not be content to sit in the old arm chair after your day's work is done.

You'll feel the spirit of youth within you—what a joyous feeling—you'll want to take long walks, play games and your work will come to be a hard-ship—it will become a pleasure.

Pensioners Lose Out

Drop In British Pound Sterling Works Hardship On Imperial Pensioners
The Dominion headquarters of the Canadian Legion has made a strong protest to the British Ministry of Pensions regarding the loss being sustained by Imperial pensioners in Canada as a result of the drop in value of the pound sterling.

The British ministry representative at Ottawa has been instructed by the home government, the Legion, has been informed, to continue to pay pensions in sterling, which means that the pensioner has to bear the loss in exchange.

Major J. R. Bowler, Dominion general secretary of Legion, sent the following telegram to British Empire Service League, headquarters in London, England:

"Drop in exchange causing grave additional hardship to thousands of Imperial pensioners in Canada."
"Will the B.E.S.L. after conferring with other member organizations, make representations to have pension payments stabilized at the equivalent of par, $4.86?"

A similar communication has also been sent by Major Bowler to the British ministry representative at Ottawa.

Turner Valley Gas

Experimental Plant For Extraction Of Benzene Nearing Completion

The experimental plant for the extraction of benzene and other by-products from Turner Valley gas is nearing completion at the Institute of Technology, Dr. E. H. Boomer, associate professor of chemistry, told a meeting of the Oil and Gas Association recently. He explained that about 500 feet of gas per hour will be used at the new plant, from which half a gallon of benzene will be extracted.

FARM MANAGER

A. J. Clark, farm manager, in Melita, Manitoba zone.

Farm Management Program

Colonization Finance Corporation of Canada, Limited, Operating in Manitoba and Eastern Saskatchewan

With the appointment of A. J. Clark, to the position of farm manager in the Melita, Manitoba zone, the Colonization Finance Corporation of Canada, Limited, completes its farm management programme in the province of Manitoba and eastern Saskatchewan.

More than 400 farms in this area are now under expert management and cover an agricultural district approximately 170,000 acres.

Mr. Clark, who was born in Montreal, came to Manitoba as a child, with his parents. His natural aptitude for agriculture took him to the Manitoba Agricultural College from which he was graduated in 1917, with honours in animal husbandry. He shortly thereafter came to the city and became attached to the livestock branch of the Saskatchewan Government, where he remained as purchasing agent until 1926, his duties taking him not only over western Canada but through both Ontario and Quebec.

Since 1926 he has been on his own farm at Stonewall, Man., where he has specialized in pure bred shorthorn cattle and Yorkshire swine.

With Frank W. Reinisch as chief farm manager, the following have been stationed by the Colonization Finance Corporation, Mr. Clark being over his new duties immediately: Russell W. Gowland, Winnipeg zone; H. J. Siemens, Brandon; A. R. Judson, Dauphin; W. J. McLeod, Moosemin; A. J. Clark, Melita, and George H. Jones, Portage la Prairie.

Bees Swarm In London

Three Swarms Invaded Busy Metropolitan One Day

Each summer a swarm of bees is sure to take possession of the busy street of some city; but it is not often that three swarms arrive on the same day. That, however, happened to London.

One swarm chose King Street, Hammersmith, and flew round buses and street cars in clouds before settling on a tree; the police taking charge of the tree and barricading it. The second swarm chose the roof of a house in Shepherd's Bush; and the third the window-sill of a flat in Baywater.

Canada's Oldest Tunnel

The Canadian Pacific Railway tunnel under the Town of Brockville, Ontario, was opened Sept. 16, 1854, 77 years ago. At that time the tunnel, built under great difficulties, was owned and operated by the Brockville and Ottawa Railway, later absorbed by the Canada Central Railway, and finally by the Canadian Pacific. It is said to be the oldest railway tunnel in the Dominion, and trains still pass through it daily.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

OCTOBER 18

PAUL IN THESSALONICA AND BEROEA

Golden Text: "Open Thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of Thy law."—Psalm 119, 18.

Lesson: Acts 17:1-15; 1 Thessalonians 2:1-12; Devotional Reading: Psalm 119:16.

Explanations and Comments

The First Results At Thessalonica. Acts 17:1-4.—It was Paul's plan to evangelize the leading trade and governmental centers, relying upon the spread of the gospel from these rallying points to the whole region round about. His words to the Thessalonians show that this was what happened at Thessalonica, 1 Thess. 1:8. He went from Philippi to Thessalonica and remained there some time, carrying on a most successful work, as we learn from his letters to the church he founded.

The result of Paul's preaching was that the Jews and devout Greeks (Greeks who attended the synagogue services and worshipped the gods) and a good many of the chief women, were convinced of the truth of the message, and "converted" Paul and Silas, "cast their lot in with them and shared their way of life."

An Upset Caused By Jews, Acts 17:5-9.—Here again it was the Jews who opposed Paul. They were jealous, as everywhere they were of Paul's success, and, gathering a crowd of idle loafers, they set the city in an uproar. These "idle fellows of the rabble," as Luke calls them, neither knew nor cared anything about Paul's work or the gospel. They were jealous of Paul's success, and, gathering a crowd of idle loafers, they set the city in an uproar. These "idle fellows of the rabble," as Luke calls them, neither knew nor cared anything about Paul's work or the gospel. They were jealous of Paul's success, and, gathering a crowd of idle loafers, they set the city in an uproar.

The house of Jason, where Paul was staying, was mobbed. Not finding the apostles there, the rabble dragged Jason and certain brethren before the rulers of the city and charged them with sedition and treason. Jason had received into his house a mob of "turned" world upside down," they cried.

The rulers of the city were greatly disturbed by the riotousness of the Jews, and they feared the Roman authorities higher up. "Claudius," who then held the reins of government, is represented by Suetonius as a man very jealous of the least commotion and timorous of the least degree, which obliged the rulers under him to be watchful against anything that looked dangerous.—Matthew Henry.

The rulers, however, have felt that the charge lacked sufficient evidence, for they took security from Jason and the rest and let them go.

"They took bond of Jason that there would be no more rioting in the city, and there was only one method by which Jason could prevent rioting; it was to put up with the preaching. This was a very ingenious device. If Paul continued his ministry, he would endanger the man who had generously taken him to his house and cared for him. So Paul retreated from Thessalonica."

"The Word is like a deep, deep mine, and the more we dig, the more we find. It is hidden in its mighty depths. For every searcher there."

Exploring: Mystery Of Easter Island Images

New Jersey Millionaire Taking Scientists To South Seas

A yacht, reputed to have cost more than $150,000, nosed its shining white hull into Glen Cove, N.Y., yesterday, to be made ready for a trip to Easter Island, where 20 scientists will attempt to solve the mystery of a "lost civilization." The island is in the Polynesian group in the South Pacific Ocean.

Since the discovery of the island on Easter Sunday, 1722, by the Dutch Admiral Roggeveen, there have been various indications of existence of a past culture.

The expedition of Eldridge R. Johnson, of Moorestown, N.J., will try to determine, among other things, who carved and erected huge stone statues on the island; who made the wooden images, found in profusion there; and what feats of engineering were required to move the stone images, some of them weighing many tons.

Huge blocks of stone form the walls surrounding some of the cities, and the origin of the stone is a mystery. Prof. MacMillan Brown, of Christ Church, N.Z., 12 years ago found carved alphabetical characters.

Mr. Johnson has long been interested in scientific exploration, but has not yet made public the names of the scientists who will make the expedition.

Motor Vehicles In Canada

There were 1,238,586 motor vehicles registered in Canada at the end of 1930, an increase of 44,249 over the total registration at December 31, 1929. The "automobile density" of Canada is one motor vehicle for every eight persons in the Dominion.

The ADVENTURES OF CAPTAIN JIMMY and his Dog SCOTTIE

WHAT CAME BEFORE?—Late one afternoon, while the boat was in the bay of the Chinese sea, Captain Jimmy and his friends were handily shipwrecked on a little vessel. They took off to the rescue in their place.

As we draw nearer, through the twilight, we could plainly see the flash from the muzzle of the pirate ship. The pirate ship I saw was a small boat, every bit of gas I could see, and the pirates were rushing toward the scene of battle at a tremendous rate.

Suddenly the firing seemed to cease. A lucky shot must have crippled the ship they were pursuing. Quartered we needed down to the water.

A little ship lay over with a heavy list to starboard, evidently looking for a shot below the water line. A large Chinese junk was a few miles away, and a party of pirates swarmed all over the junk. The pirates were looking for shelter, and the Chinese junk was a good number of miles away from the pirates. As we passed overhead, the pirates greeted us with a volley. They were not used to firing at a speeding plane, and their shot went wide.

We swept past the boats at about one hundred and ten miles an hour. The Chinese junk was our target and how long it took to sink. Every bit of engine power forced us to the city of the sky. We could make it hot for those pirates.

About half a mile away, I turned to the right again. Suddenly I swooped down and saw a small boat. Every bit of engine power forced us to the city of the sky. We could make it hot for those pirates.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

TOMATO CHUTNEY

- 2 dozen ripe tomatoes, medium size, chopped.
- 6 onions, medium size, chopped.
- 3 red peppers, seeded and chopped.
- 1 dozen tart apples, peeled and chopped.
- 1 pound seedless raisins.
- 1 cup celery, cut fine.
- 2 quarts vinegar.
- 3 cups sugar.
- Salt.
- 1 teaspoon each cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves.

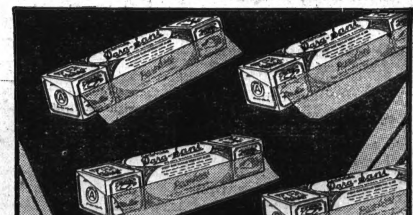

Combine the ingredients, and cook in a preserving kettle until the chutney is thick and clear. Stir frequently to prevent burning. Pour into hot, sterilized jars and seal.

GENOISE CAKE

- 1 1/2 cups special cake flour, sifted.
- 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder.
- 1 cup butter.
- 1 cup powdered sugar.
- 1/2 teaspoon lemon extract.
- 4 eggs, well beaten.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly until light and fluffy. Add flavouring. Add eggs, alternately with flour, a small amount at a time, beating well after each addition. Turn into greased, paper-lined pan 8 x 8 x 2 inches. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) 50 minutes.

"I fear I seem intrusive. But I am so interested in your future—I have taken a great fancy to you, mademoiselle. That must be my excuse." She rose from the table, adding smilingly: "At least you will not find it dull, since Lady Anne has two sons. They will be companions for you."

Jean rose, too, and together they passed out of the salie a mander.

"And what do you propose to do with yourself today?" asked the Countess, pausing in the hall. "My husband and I are going for a sleigh drive. Would you care to come with us? We should be delighted."

Jean shook her head.

"It's very kind of you. But I should really like to try my luck on the ice. I haven't skated for some years, and as I feel a trifle shaky about beginning again, Monsieur Griolet, who directs the sports, has promised to coach me up a bit some time this morning."

"Bon!" Madame de Varigny nodded pleasantly. "You will be well occupied while we are away. Au revoir, then, till our return. Perhaps we shall walk down to the rink later to witness your progress under Monsieur Griolet's instruction."

She smiled mischievously, the smile irradiating her face with a sudden charm. Jean felt as though, for a moment, she had glimpsed the woman the Countess might have been but for some happening in her life which had soured and embittered it, setting that strange implacability within the liquid depths of her soft, southern eyes.

She was still speculating on Madame de Varigny's curious personality as she made her way along the beaten track that led towards the rink; and then, as a sudden turn of the way brought the sheet of ice suddenly into full view, all thoughts concerning the bunch of contradictions that goes to make up individual character were swept out of her mind.

In the glory of the morning sunlight the stretch of frozen water gleamed like a shield of burnished silver, whilst on its further side rose great pine-woods, mysteriously dark and silent, climbing the steeply rising ground towards the mountains.

There were a number of people skating, and Jean discovered Monsieur Griolet in the distance, supervising the practice of a pretty American girl who was cutting figures with an ease and exquisite balance of lithe body that hardly seemed to stand in need of the instructions he poured forth so volubly. Probably, Jean decided, the American had entered for some match and was being coached up to concert pitch accordingly.

She stood for a little time watching with interest the varied performances of the skaters. Bands of light-hearted folk, indulging in the sport just for the sheer enjoyment of it, sped gaily by, broken matches of their talk and laughter drifting back to her as they passed, whilst groups of more accomplished skaters performed intricate evolutions with an earnestness and intensity of purpose almost worthy of a better cause.

Jean felt a little stranded and forlorn. She would have liked someone to share her enthusiasm for the marvels achieved by the figure-skaters—and to laugh with her a little at their deadly seriousness and at the scraps of heated argument anent the various schools of technique which came to her, borne on the still, clear air.

Presently her attention was attracted by the solitary figure of a man who swept past her in the course of making a complete circle of the rink. He skimmed the ice with the free assurance of an expert, and as he passed, Jean caught a fleeting glimpse of a simple, sinewy figure, and of a lean, dark face, down-bent, with a cap crammed low on to the somewhat scowling brows.

There was something curiously distinctive about the man. Brief was her vision of him, it possessed an odd definiteness—a vividness of impression that was rather startling.

He flashed by, his arms folded across his chest, moving with long, rhythmic strokes which soon carried him to the further side of the rink. Jean's eyes followed him intently, and he seemed to be as solitary as herself, but, unlike her, he appeared indifferent to the fact, absorbed in his own thoughts which, to judge by the sullen, brooding expression of his face, were not particularly pleasant ones.

Soon she lost sight of him amid the scattered groups of smoothly gliding figures. The scene, absorbed in a cinema show. People darted suddenly into the picture, materializing in full detail in the space of a moment, then rushed out of it again, dwindling into insignificant black dots which merged themselves into the continuously shifting background.

At last she bent her steps towards the lower end of the rink, by common consent reserved for beginners in the art of skating. She had not skated for several years, owing to a severe attack, which had left her with a weak ankle, and she felt somewhat nervous about starting again.

Rather slowly she fastened on her skates and ventured tentatively on to the ice. For a few minutes she suffered from a devastating feeling that her legs didn't belong to her, and wished heartily that she had never quitted the safe security of the bank, but before long her confidence of the safe course beyond the narrow limits of the "Mugs Corner"—as that portion of the ice allotted to novices was unkindly dubbed.

She struck out for the middle of the rink, gradually increasing her speed and revelling in the sting of the keen, cold air against her face. Then, all at once, it seemed as though the solid surface gave way beneath her foot. She lurched forward, flung violently off her balance and in the same moment the sharp click of metal upon the ice betrayed the cause. One of her skates insecurely fastened, had come off.

She staggered wildly, and in another instant would have fallen had not someone, swift as a shadow, glided suddenly abreast of her and, slipping a supporting arm round her waist, skated smoothly beside her, little by little slackening the rate until, pace until Jean, on one blade all this time, could stop without danger of falling.

As they glided to a standstill, she turned to offer her thanks and found herself looking straight into the keen dark face of the Englishman who had passed her when she had been watching the skaters.

He lifted his cap, and as he stood for a moment bareheaded beside her, she noticed with a curious little shock—half surprised, half appreciative—that on the left temple his dark brown hair was streaked with a single pure white lock, as though a finger had been laid upon the hair and bleached it where it lay. It conferred a certain air of distinction—an added value of contrast—just as the sharp black shadow in a neutral-tinted picture gives sudden significance to the whole composition.

The stranger was regarding Jean with a flicker of amusement in his grey eyes.

The stranger was regarding Jean with a flicker of amusement in his grey eyes.

"That was a neat thing!" he observed.

Evidently he judged her to be a Frenchwoman, as he spoke in French very fluently, but with an unmistakably English accent. Instinctively Jean, who all her life had been as frequently called upon to converse in French as English, responded in the same language.

She was breathing rather quickly, a little shaken by the suddenness of the incident, and his face took on a shade of concern.

"You're not hurt, I hope? Did you twist your ankle?"

"No, oh, no," she smiled up at him. "I can't have strained my skate on properly, and when it shot off like that I'm afraid I rather lost my head. You see," she added, explanatorily, "I haven't skated for some years. And I was never very proficient."

"I see," he said gravely. "It was a little rash of you to start again quite alone, wasn't it?"

"I suppose it was. However, as you luckily happened to be there to save me from the consequences, no harm is done. Thank you so much."

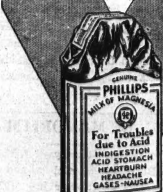

There was a note of dismissal in her voice, but apparently he failed to notice it, for he held out his hands to her, crosswise, saying:

"Let me help you to the bank, and then I'll retrieve your errand skate for you."

He so evidently expected her to comply with his suggestion that, almost without her own volition, she found herself moving with him towards the edge of the rink, her hands grasped in a close, steady clasp, and a moment later she was scrambling up the bank. Once more on level ground, she made a movement to withdraw her hands.

"I can manage quite well now," she said rather nervously. There was

Bedouin Given Credit

Of Inventing Alphabet

Chicago, Professor's Idea Upsets Theory of Many Scholars

Some unknown Bedouin mine foreman, working for the ancient Egyptians, about 1,800 years before Christ, is credited by Prof. Martin Sprengling, of the University of Chicago, with inventing the A, B, C. The mine foreman, puzzled by the complex hieroglyphics of his masters, sought a shorter way to keep his records, and simplified his work by developing a "primitive" alphabet, in the opinion of Prof. Sprengling. He based his theory on his translation of the Sinal inscriptions, found in 1904 by Sir Flinders Petrie, in Sinal, which lies between Egypt and the northern part of Arabia. His theory would upset that of many scholars who have attributed the development of the alphabet to the Phoenicians.

French Scientist Wants To Raise Race Of Super-Cats

The production of a race of "super-cats" capable of driving all mice and rats from any city in France was forecast by Dr. Jean Loir, distinguished scientist and nephew of the famous Pasteur.

Dr. Loir said he was developing the cats at Havre where secret tests have made devastating inroads on rodents, some as large as small dogs, along the wharves.

Dr. Loir is seeking cats with a highly developed sense of smell and with fighting ability. Most of the animals with which he has experimented so far have been remarkable for the length of their whiskers.

Edouard Herriot, mayor of Lyons has invited Dr. Loir to go to that city where special facilities would be accorded him for further experiments.

Can Be Inspected On Payment Of Small Fee

Storage accommodation at Somerset House, London, England, where wills, birth, death and marriage certificates, and divorce documents, are filed, has for many years been severely taxed. The position has now been eased by the preparation of a new strong-room below the level of the basement, capable of holding ten million additional papers. Some of the wills date back to 1382. Among the collection are those of Shakespeare, Milton, Nelson, Wellington, Pitt, Burke, and Dr. Johnson. All can be seen for a fee of five pence, except that of Shakespeare, for an inspection of which 2s. is charged. Altogether it is estimated that Somerset House contains fifty million documents.

Trying To Acclimatize Trees Which Produce Fluid Like Milk

An experiment with trees that produce milk and cream is being conducted by an important French laboratory.

Several living trees of the family "Brosimum Galedendron" were brought to France from South America, and work has been started to acclimatize them to northern European conditions. The trees, when punctured, will provide a sweet fluid like milk. It does not turn sour and laboratory tests show that it is richer than cow's milk in phosphates and sugar. It looks and tastes much like the real product and is produced at 65 per cent. of the cost of ordinary cream.

Cheese Curing During Fall Months

Dr. J. A. Rudlick, Dominion Dairy Commissioner, calls attention to the importance of maintaining adequate temperatures for the curing of cheese made during the fall months, particularly October and November. The temperature of the curing rooms should never be allowed to go below 50 degrees Fahrenheit, and the cheese should be turned every day. A fire in the curing room keeps the air dry and gives the cheese better rinds while maintaining adequate temperatures.

A Cherished Record

Mother Keeps Safely Only Link With Dead Son

With millions of dollars stored away in the vaults of one of Washington's largest financial institutions, it will naturally surprise one to learn that a cracked phonograph record, held for safe keeping there, is "the most precious thing" under lock and key. And why shouldn't it be? Listen what the head of the bank related interestingly the other day, after he looked up from his desk only to see standing before him a little old woman, dressed in black. Placing a record package on the desk he said she told him: "Please, I want this put away where it will be safe. It is very precious to me." Further inquiry revealed, the banker said: "In 1917 her son, a singer in a local cabaret, marched away to war and stayed in Flanders Field. One of the things she had to remember him by was a phonograph record which he had made before he left. It was old and scuffed now, and had a crack in it, but his voice, singing one of the numbers he had sung at the cabaret, was still recognizable. It was the record she wanted to preserve. And now, once a year, on her son's birthday, the banker said, the little old woman comes to the bank and takes home the record."

Patient Was Hypnotized

Introducing New Method Of Painless Dental Operation

The Brooklyn Eagle has reported a bloodless and painless dental operation with hypnotism replacing anesthetic. The paper said the experiment was witnessed by its own science editor in the offices of Dr. A. J. Bruchachier, Brooklyn dentist.

Walter R. Orin, mechanical engineer and vice-president of the Brooklyn Psychic Research society, kept a woman whose name was given only as "Miss M. C." under hypnotic influence for 15 minutes, the paper said, while Dr. Bruchachier extracted a tooth, made an incision in a gum and cut away a growth of bone.

Ideas Claimed For Chinese

Antiquarians Say They Were Inventors Of Ink and Fountain Pens

The idea of a fountain pen goes a very long way back, and no one man can be considered its inventor. Certainly a crude fountain pen was in use in England in the seventeenth century, but antiquarians go back a good deal further than that in their history. It is claimed that the idea was Chinese—they were the inventors of ink—and fountain pens were in use in China three or four years before the Christian era began.

The Oil Of Power.—It is not claimed for Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil that it will remedy every ill, but its uses are so various that it may be looked upon as a general pain killer. It has achieved that greatness for itself and its excellence is known to all who have tested its virtues and learned by experience.

Moan Erratic In Its Course

The moon is so erratic, scientists say, that its position cannot be determined as exactly as that of stars. That is, it is never where it should be in its theoretical orbit, and what is so strange, it is the only body known to disobey such laws. In an effort to solve the mystery, computers of the naval almanac office are making a two-year check on the occultations of stars by the moon.

This being the last day of the fishing season in Alberta, we are busy tucking away considerable of the tackle that gave us pleasure during 1931. We are cleaning up and holding in reserve, however, a considerable quantity that may yet be used in the neighboring province of British Columbia. Now that the season is closed, a careful inventory of the fun had during same has elicited the following figures: Eight hundred and thirty trout and grayling were landed, costing exactly forty-nine cents each. This cost is made up of grub, bait, tackle, gas, oil, installment on tackle and car, bedding, medicines, fly ointment, lost cutlery, crockery, stolen better and tips to the enforcing authorities. Fishing is really a recreation and a pleasurable occupation, but part of the aftermath is 'ell.
